A MESSAGE BY HEAD GIRL

DIYA ROY CHAUDHARY
XII B
HEAD GIRL

Are we truly FREE ?

As I sit in my room, in front of the laptop, I ponder if what I'm doing is right, if my words have any power, and if all that is happening around me is as bad as we speak and discuss. I highly doubt the socio-cultural and political environment. Keeping quiet because one is apolitical and peaceful doesn't necessarily justify beating around the bush when you know something is wrong. Are we truly FREE? Or is it just a farce? And even if we are free, in what terms are we free? Since there is gender-biased dogmatism, lack of awareness, education, etc.

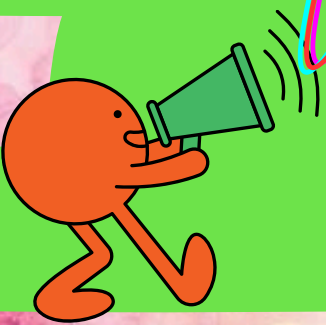

Even after seventy - seven years of liberation, there is raging violence and abuse performed against certain sections of the community. I may be biased but one can never heal burnt wounds engraved deep inside one's heart and mind. While it still pains me, I see women around who are not safe, constantly fighting to survive, when they should be able to live FREELY like the men in our society regularly do.

Misogyny is spreading so quickly and one may not be able to admit it openly, but closeted misogyny continues to exist. Is it the same India we aspired for when enslaved?

If so, I applaud all those who abandon this country to live life on their terms because we deserve equality. Unfortunately, this is a privilege, the downtrodden in this country are deprived of. They somehow MANAGE. Yes, this is the word I'd use for the larger public. Freedom is a goal yet to be accomplished, it is only nominal and ceremonial in this country. I have been a victim of such an incident, day by day it dawns on me that the situation is worsening, injustice at its prime, the power battle unleashed by muscle power, money and politics is no longer dirty but the norm to survive. I live in constant fear of stepping out of my house because I find certain humans ogling at me when I choose comfort over a code of conduct.

Although this code of conduct is superficial, invisible, and non-inscribed it is universal and facile. One can't simply drag it into oblivion, otherwise, the consequences through no fault of their own are detrimental. You will be ogled at, eve-teased and what not. But on the flip side, these debaucherous men through no fault of their own and it is never their fault because they are merely TRIGGERED to do so. The term is "She was asking for it" and then they dare to outright deny the sins of their character. I am out of words and I am out of emotions to pour, I feel this excruciating pain every time I hear the gruesome details of the current case. It boils my blood, enrages me and disturbs my mind whenever I envisage the planners of this murder, the masterminds of the kill. They wholly deny accountability for their misdeeds, in spite of being aware that they have committed a felony. They roam around freely, doing whatever they want, objectifying women, working in flourishing sex rackets, depriving people of their rights, engaging frequently in corrupt activities, and displaying traits of pseudo-masculinity. They are a subject to mental sickness, they are mind you PSYCHOPATHS on the loose marring the dignity of several innocent lives. If you still accept to stay mum regarding this matter, then again it is a form of atrocity, a peculiar form. This isn't a crime against one female, it is a crime performed against all those who chose to walk the right path, every woman has been wronged and deceived. The atonement of every criminal is yet to be achieved and who knows whether that golden day will ever come or not... my hands shudder with an enrooted disappointment and colloquial somber.

Life!

Stuck between future and present's hold,
Life feels miserable, tales untold.
Goals, they beckon, yet stability wanes,
Success's aftermath, sleepless remains.
Struggling to conquer dreams, we find,
Tears shed, hearts heavy, hopes intertwined.
Triumph over fears, let success lead,
One day, we'll conquer all, indeed.

Mind like a Sea

*Mind like a sea -
Sometimes chaotic, Sometimes free.
Thoughts like waves,
Can shatter anyone's day.
Heart like sand,
Can escape from anyone's hand.
Feeling like a sea shell,
Always hidden from everyone else.
The view so mesmerizing,
Giving us a hope to rise in.*

A rug of memories, knitted in my heart,
How do I forget what those days impart.
"See you soon" was our catchphrase, so
dear,
But now, it happens once in a blue moon, I fear.
Each day feels arduous, a heavy weight
to bear,
I wouldn't be able to come," they articulate, so rare.
The present appears habitual, routine,
and plain,
You hadn't a glance, one interrogates in vain.

बचपन

एक बचपन का जमाना था,
जिसमें खुशियों का खजाना था।
चाहत चांद को पाने की थी,
पर दिल तितली का दीवाना था।।

खबर न थी कुछ सुबह की,
ना शाम का ठिकाना था।
थक कर आना स्कूल से,
पर खेलने भी जाना था।।

मां की कहानी थी,
परियों का फसाना था।
बारिश में कागज की नाव थी,
हर मौसम सुहाना था।।
